Angel in Flight-Sympathy

It's hard to see our loved ones go.

We can visit them in our hearts, our dreams and talk to them in our minds.

We can pretend that they are at our side.

Dear

I have no idea what Heaven is like... this is what I believe...

I think your loved one is flying freely with the angels. They feel endless happiness and are part of every season we walk through. Your loved one is now part of "the angel family" and the scenes of our world we see each day.

When your heart cries for them, imagine at that very moment they are the wind, and as the breeze blows, your loved one is letting you know that they are free.

With Deepest Sympathy,

The Tree of Light and Hope-Verse (Support, Encouragement, Get Well)

Inside

As

you look at this tree,

there are some sentimental reflections that you should know.

The candles are gently flickering for love, peace and comfort.

The tree trunk is standing tall for strength and courage.

Now you are surrounded by

"The Tree of Light and Hope."
